

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for producing a cup-shaped annular part (2') having an inner toothing. The invention also relates to a cup-shaped preform and to a cup-shaped annular part.